5. The license shall not be inconsistent with the Prompt Payment Act.
6. The license shall not attempt to impose a vendor lock-out provision. A vendor lock-out provision is a mechanical or electronic method imbedded in the system that prevents unauthorized use or distribution of the program. This method can result in an impermissible unilateral change to the delivery order initiated by the vendor and involve a vendor having free access to a computer system that must be secure.
7. The license shall not state that it sets forth the entire agreement between the vendor and the Government; applicable Federal laws and regulations always govern Federal contracts.
8. The license shall not impose an automatic renewal provision on the Government or the possibility of unilateral price increases.
9. The license shall not permit the vendor to unilaterally terminate the contract or license.
10. The license shall not require the Government to pay any taxes or duties.
11. The license shall not state the sole remedy available to the Government is the refund of money.
12. The license shall not be inconsistent with FAR 52.233-1, DISPUTES.
13. The license shall not create a contingent liability for the Government.
14. The license shall not restrict the Government from using the product at various sites nor from use of the product by various Government agencies or third parties performing work on behalf of the Government. In performance of the Government’s requirements, Government personnel, as well as Government contractors, will use the software. Additionally, the software will be used at Government sites and Government contractor sites and the sites will change over time. The software license shall be flexible to accommodate this situation.
15. The license shall not include non-substitution language that would preclude or limit the Government from switching to another vendor/reseller and/or another product to fulfill program requirements.
16. If the commercial computer software includes open source software (OSS), the Contractor must ensure that the use of the OSS does not create, or purport to create, any Government distribution obligations with respect to the computer software deliverables unless the Government affirms that it will accept delivery under those terms.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the parties have caused this Addendum to be executed by their duly authorized representatives.

H-12 CORRECTION OF DEFICIENCIES .

- (a) Seller shall be responsible for the correction of deficiencies in accordance with the priorities described in this clause discovered in all deliverables during the Engineering and Manufacturing Development (EMD) phase from contract award until all deliverables have been accepted or the end of the period of performance for this contract, whichever is later. For the purposes of this contract, a deficiency is defined as a failure to meet one or more of the requirements, including problems and defects associated with both hardware and software.

- (b) Seller shall prioritize deficiencies in accordance with IEEE/EIA 12207.2-1997 modified as follows:
 - (1) Priority 1: Prevents the accomplishment of an operational or mission-essential capability or jeopardizes safety, security, or other requirements designated “critical”
 - (2) Priority 2: Adversely affects the accomplishment of an operational or mission-essential capability and no operationally acceptable work-around solution is known
 - (3) Priority 3: Adversely affects the accomplishment of an operational or mission-essential capability and an operationally acceptable work-around solution is known
 - (4) Priority 4: Results in user/operator inconvenience or annoyance but does not affect a required operational or mission-essential capability
 - (5) Priority 5: Any other effect
- (c) In the event of a conflict between Seller’s priority classification of a deficiency and the Government’s priority classification of a deficiency, the Government’s priority classification of the deficiency shall take precedence.
- (d) The Seller shall correct:
 - (1) All priority 1 and 2 deficiencies
 - (2) All priority 3 and 4 deficiencies where correction of the problem costs less to implement than updating documentation and training materials for the approved work-around
 - (3) Deficiencies at all priorities affecting documentation
 - (4) Lower priority deficiencies that when combined with one or more lower priority deficiencies have a cumulative adverse effect that is of a higher priority and resulting severity which should be addressed in the same manner as a priority 1 or 2 (e.g. combination of high failure rate items identified via FRACAS that impact Operational Availability (AO))
- (e) Seller shall deliver software that is in compliance with paragraph (d) above and with the following deficiency quality limits:

| Priority | Limit |
|----------|--|
| 1 or 2 | Zero |
| 3 | One per 8K Non-Comment, Non-Blank logical source lines of code or fraction thereof |
| 4 or 5 | One per 4K Non-Comment, Non-Blank logical source lines of code or fraction thereof |

- (f) Seller shall update all delivered and yet to be delivered deliverables and associated documentation and all Exhibits under the contract to the MQ-25 final product baseline. The Seller shall submit the necessary configuration documentation to correct all delivered and yet to be delivered deliverables. The Seller shall be required to correct, in accordance with the approved configuration documentation, the deficiencies in accordance with the priorities described in this clause discovered during EMD contract execution to align to the MQ-25 final product baseline.
- (g) Seller shall not be entitled to an adjustment to the contract's Target Cost, Target Profit, Ceiling Prices, or Profit Adjustment formulas (share ratio) for correction of deficiencies and/or updates to the MQ-25 final product baseline.
- (h) The three year warranty period specified in paragraph (b) of DFARS 252.246-7001 shall not commence until all deliverables have been accepted or the period of performance has ended, whichever is later. This time period is consistent with the longer period that may be specified in this contract.

H-14 CLARIFICATION BETWEEN INTEGRATED DATA ENVIRONMENT (IDE) ENTRY, ACCESS, AND DELIVERY .

- (a) Definitions.

“Access” is used in this contract to describe how the Seller publishes, divulges, or discloses “information” on the Collaborative Site. Access shall have this definition when used in this clause. Access shall also have this definition when used throughout this contract (inclusive of all exhibits and attachments) in the phrase, “provide [e.g., providing, provides, etc.] the Government with access.”

“Collaborative Site” is used in this contract to describe the location to share digital information between the Buyer, USG and the Seller. Hosting of the Collaborative Site will be maintained and controlled by the Government.

“Deliver,” “Delivery,” or “Deliverable” is used in this clause to mean the technical data and computer software documentation (pursuant to DFARS 252.227-7013) that is specified to be delivered, regardless of the form or medium in which it is provided, under this contract pursuant to a Contract Data Requirements List (DD Form 1423) or the computer software (pursuant to DFARS 252.227-7014) that is otherwise specified to be delivered under the contract.

“IDE entry” as used in this contract means read and write privileges and any other privileges granted within either the Seller’s IDE or the Government’s IDE to named users.

“Information” as used in this clause is intended to be an all-encompassing term that includes noncommercial technical data and computer software documentation, commercial technical data, and noncommercial computer software, which have the same definitions as set forth in DFARS clauses 252.227-7013 (FEB 2014), 252.227-7015 (FEB 2014), and 252.227-7014 (FEB 2014), respectively. Information also includes commercial computer software, as defined in DFARS 252.227-7014. Information also includes metadata attributes and data incidental to contract administration, such as management data. Information does not include financial data.

“IDE” is used in this contract to mean a shared, configuration-managed, distributed, dynamic data environment composed of common tools and interfaces. It allows data to be captured at its source and made readily available to be shared with others. The IDE integrates the people, processes, business systems, and information associated with designing, acquiring, and supporting a system and allows users connectivity to system development, sustainment, and program data. It provides immediate access to required information for making decisions. Both the Government and the Seller will control and maintain their own IDEs.

“USG” means, for purposes of this clause only, both federal Government employees and Covered Government Support Contractor personnel (pursuant to DFARS 252.227-7013(a)(5)).

(b) Clarification between IDE Entry, Access, and Delivery.

(1) Access to information and IDE entry, in the absence of delivery, does not require the determination of Government rights in data as set forth in DFARS 227.7103-5 or the assertion of restrictions of the Government’s rights to that data as set forth in DFARS 227.7103-3.

(2) The liberal use of deferred ordering will be exercised, where applicable, at any time that delivery of information is determined by the Government to be necessary. Deferred ordering under DFARS 252.227-7027 may be exercised by the PCO unilaterally by any authorized means for ordering technical data or computer software (e.g., a Standard Form 30 may be used to execute a unilateral modification to order technical data or computer software). The deferred order shall be delivered to the Government no later than 20 days after exercise of deferred ordering. The parties agree that fee/profit has already been accounted for regarding the generation of any information during performance of this contract, or any subcontract hereunder, and additional fee/profit for the act of converting the data or computer software into a prescribed form or for reproduction and delivery shall not be an allowable cost per FAR Part 31. Failure to deliver the information in accordance with this clause shall be subject to DFARS 252.227-7030 “Technical Data – Withholding of Payment.”

(3) USG individuals identified by the Government shall have IDE entry for MQ-25 program development information to the Seller’s IDE. Access by the USG shall be accomplished within the Collaborative Site.

(4) USG individuals shall not be required to personally sign (including by digital signature) any agreement with the Seller for access via the Collaborative Site or IDE entry to the Seller’s IDE.

(5) Upon being granted access via the Collaborative Site or IDE entry to the Seller’s IDE, the USG individuals may use the information as permitted based on the electronic permissions (e.g., inability for information to be saved outside of the Seller’s IDE or the Collaborative Site, controlled digital access, and/or inability to reproduce information) set within the Seller’s discretion. The electronic permissions the Seller sets shall be consistent with the definitions of access and IDE entry above and the requirements of the contract. The burden is on the Seller to electronically control permissions and otherwise prevent disclosure of the information. The Government shall not be liable for release or disclosure, except in cases where the Seller can show that its access control mechanisms were willfully disregarded.

(6) No more than two Seller individuals identified by the Seller will have IDE entry for MQ-25 program development information to the Government’s IDE. It is at the Government’s sole discretion to control IDE entry to the Government’s IDE.

(c) Modification of Accessed Information and Information within the Seller’s IDE

(1) The Seller may allow the USG to modify the information that is accessed or to which the USG has permissions by virtue of IDE entry to the Seller's IDE, but shall not require the USG to modify any information. The Seller shall remain obligated to meet all terms and conditions of the contract. A USG modification shall not be construed as interference with development or be the basis of a request for equitable adjustment. Decisions to permit modification of information are at the discretion of the Seller and the requirements of the contract.

(2) Access or IDE entry shall not be contingent upon the Government relinquishing any rights pursuant to statute or regulation to which the Government would be entitled if the information were to become a deliverable later in execution. This includes rights to which the Government may have obtained by virtue of its modification to the information accessed.

(d) USG Access via the Collaborative Site and IDE Entry to the Seller's IDE

(1) There shall be no additional costs imposed by the Seller for the USG individuals identified by the Government to have access via the Collaborative Site or IDE entry to the Seller's IDE, and costs shall be charged in accordance with the Seller's disclosure statement. FAR 52.232-39 Unenforceability of Unauthorized Obligations shall be applicable to any End User License Agreement (EULA), Terms of Service (TOS), or similar legal instrument or agreement that may be encountered by the USG as a result of access or IDE entry. Only the PCO has the authority to agree to any terms or conditions binding the Government; any such terms shall be set forth in writing and incorporated into this contract.

(2) It is the Seller's responsibility to ensure it has the appropriate licenses to grant the USG access to information via the Collaborative Site and permissions to any commercial data or commercial computer software within the Seller's IDE. The Seller shall indemnify and hold harmless the Government, its agents, and employees from every claim or liability, including attorney's fees, court costs, and expenses arising out of or in any way related to any access or IDE entry later deemed to have been unauthorized.

(e) The Seller shall insert this clause or the substance of this clause in each subcontract or other contractual or legal instruments with its subcontractors or suppliers at any tier necessary to accomplish USG access and/or IDE entry.

H-15 RIGHT TO OBTAIN INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY, EQUIPMENT, AND ASSOCIATED LICENSE RIGHTS

(a) With regard to Subject Intellectual Property (IP) and Equipment (as defined below), the Government is granted an irrevocable, non-transferrable right to obtain Government Purpose equivalent or greater license rights from the Seller to any Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof. This right is exercisable as described in this clause. This right does not expire for the duration of this contract and may be exercised multiple times for the same Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof. Each combination of Subject IP and any Equipment is considered an individual offer for sale, and changing the combination of Subject IP and any Equipment does not invalidate the Seller's obligations under this clause.

(b) Definitions. The following terms are defined for the purpose of this clause:

- (1) Subject IP means any technical data and/or computer software developed exclusively at private expense provided or available under any delivery requirement under the contract.
- (2) Equipment means unique manufacturing processes and equipment associated with the Subject IP offered for sale or subject to transfer.
- (3) Right of First Offer means a contractual obligation by the owner of the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof, in this case the Seller, to negotiate in good faith the sale of the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof with the Government before offering it for sale to third parties.
- (4) Right of First Refusal means a contractual right that gives the Government the option to enter into a business transaction with the owner of the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof, in this case the Seller, according to specified terms, before the Seller is entitled to enter into that transaction with a third party.

(c) The Seller shall provide the Government with the Right of First Offer to the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof. The Right of First Offer shall be exercisable by the Government upon the Seller's notice to the Government, see paragraphs (e) and (f) below, of its intention at any time to pursue transfer ownership or control of the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof to a third party.

(d) The Seller shall provide the Government with the Right of First Refusal to the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof. The Right of First Refusal shall be exercisable by the Government upon the Seller's notice to the Government, see paragraphs (e) and (f) below, of the occurrence of any of the following events:

- (1) Upon the filing of any judicial proceeding not subject to paragraph (d)(2) below that may result in the Seller's transfer or loss of ownership or control of the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof.
- (2) Upon a voluntary or involuntary sale in a bankruptcy, insolvency, or receivership proceeding where the debtor solicits for sale any or all of its assets that would include the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof.
- (3) Upon the receipt of an unsolicited offer to purchase the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof that the Seller intends to pursue.
- (4) Upon a voluntary or involuntary transfer of the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof pursuant to a security interest.

- (e) The Seller shall provide 45 days advance written notice, specifically citing this clause, to the Government of a proposed transfer of ownership or control of the any Subject IP and any Equipment. This Government's Right of First Offer or Right of First Refusal shall be exercisable by the Government for a period of 45 days from the Government's receipt of the Seller's notification.
- (f) The Seller's notice shall specify all Subject IP and Equipment to be transferred pursuant to paragraph (c) or (d) above. In the event this notice is provided pursuant to paragraph (c) above, the Seller shall include its proposed offer price and material terms and conditions for the transfer of ownership or control of the Subject IP and Equipment it intends to pursue transferring to a third party. In the event this notice is provided pursuant to paragraph (d) above, the Seller shall include the acceptable material terms and conditions (including the acceptable price and form of consideration) of the transfer of ownership or control and the identity of the prospective buyer.
- (g) With regard to either the Right of First Offer or Right of First Refusal, the price of the Subject IP and Equipment to be transferred shall be negotiated based on the market value or a business case analysis. Common commercial practices for the transfer of the Subject IP and Equipment shall be utilized. Should an agreement be reached, the price negotiated shall be incorporated into this contract as a firm fixed price line item via formal contract modification. Should the parties not reach agreement and the Seller proceeds to solicit quotes in the 12 months following the abandonment of negotiations for the sale or transfer of the Subject IP and Equipment or any part thereof, then the Seller shall not finalize such a sale or transfer and shall offer that non-negotiable price to the Government if the price is within 125 percent of the Government's last offer to the Seller in negotiations.
- (h) The Government's rights under H-15 shall flow-down to any subcontractor or supplier at any tier, and the Seller shall insert this clause in each subcontract or other contractual or legal instruments with its subcontractors or suppliers at any tier.

H-16 COMPUTER SOFTWARE DELIVERABLES—WITHHOLDING OF PAYMENT .

- (a) If computer software specified to be delivered under this contract is not delivered within the time specified by this contract, is deficient outside of the quality limits as identified in H-12(e) upon delivery, or is delivered with nonconforming markings and/or restrictive markings not identified in the Data Rights Assertions List, the Buyer may, until such computer software is accepted by the Government, withhold payment to the Seller in the amount of up to ten percent (10%) of the total contract price. Payments shall not be withheld nor any other action taken pursuant to this paragraph when the Seller's failure to make timely delivery or to deliver such computer software without deficiencies that fall outside of the quality limits as identified in H-12(e) arises out of causes beyond the control and without the fault or negligence of the Seller.
- (b) The withholding of any amount or subsequent payment to the Seller shall not be construed as a waiver of any rights accruing to the Government under this contract.
