DELIVERY STRETCH-OUTS

Seller agrees that in the event Buyer finds it necessary to direct stretch-outs in equipment deliveries under this contract, any such stretch-outs in equipment delivery schedules will be accomplished by Seller at no increase in contract price, provided that such stretch-outs in delivery schedules do not exceed four (4) months for this contract. In the event such direction from Buyer exceeds four (4) months, Seller will be entitled to claim such equitable price adjustment as may be appropriate under the Changes article of the General Contract conditions, but only for the period of deliveries that exceed the aforesaid 4 month stretch-out in schedule. However, it is noted that the provisions of this clause do not limit Buyer's rights to direct changes in delivery schedules as a result of design deficiencies disclosed in Seller's equipment inasmuch as Seller continues to retain complete cost responsibility for such schedule changes if they occur.
